

April 2020 Monthly Catalogue

Welcome to the April 2020 edition of the NHBS Monthly Catalogue, which lists all new titles added to our website in the last month. The months ahead look uncertain in many ways (see our COVID-19 update here), but our team at NHBS will continue to bring you relevant and exciting new books.

An exceptionally strong list of bird books was either announced or arrived in stock. Penguin Random House South Africa will publish the 5th edition of SASOL Birds of Southern Africa in August. As with the 4th edition, it will be published in three versions. Two site guides for Mallorca have been published simultaneously: we received stock of Birds of Mallorca: An Accurate and Comprehensive Guide to the 340 Species of Birds, Covering 31 Sites Across the Island, published by the author Neville Davies, and there is the bilingual (English / German) Birds of Mallorca: Where and When to Observe Them from Balearmex XXI. Also just published by the Paris Museum of Natural History is the French distribution atlas Atlas des Oiseaux Migrateurs et Hivernants d'Aquitaine: Dordogne, Gironde, Landes, Lot-et-Garonne, Pyrénées-Atlantiques. Then there are several books on bird biology on the horizon. Princeton University Press will publish the paperback of Far from Land: The Mysterious Lives of Seabirds in September while Harper Collins will reissue Ian Newton's New Naturalist volume Bird Migration in May. More academically oriented are the third edition of Raptor Medicine, Surgery and Rehabilitation, due August from CABI Publishing, and two titles from Cambridge University Press: the paperback Avian Cognition, due June, and the completely new book The Kestrel: Ecology, Behaviour and Conservation of an Open-Land Predator, due September. Lastly, we have stock of the privately published A Brush with Birds of Paradise: Paintings from the Papua New Guinea Rainforest.

On the topic of mammals, we have the first volume in a new Springer series, Handbook of the Mammals of Europe. The introductory volume Mammals of Europe: Past, Present, and Future is due August. Academic Press will publish Jaguars of the Northern Pantanal: Panthera onca at the Meeting of the Waters in June and there are two primate titles coming, New World Monkeys: The Evolutionary Odyssey, due September from Princeton University Press, and the paperback of Mahale Chimpanzees: 50 Years of Research due June from Cambridge University Press. KNNV Publishing has recently published a new edition of their Dutch Field Guide to Animals Tracks of Europe. Lastly, Harper Collins will publish the paperback of The Hidden World of the Fox in September.

For other animal groups, we have one or two titles each to announce. The Ivy Press will publish Lizards of the World: A Guide to Every Family in September, and Johns Hopkins University Press has announced Shark Biology and Conservation: Essentials for Educators, Students, and Enthusiasts for September. An entomology title we are very excited about is Beetles of Britain and Ireland, Volume 3: Geotrupidae to Scaptiidae due July. This is the penultimate title in this series, with only volume 2 remaining to be written. WILDGuides has announced new editions of Britain's Butterflies: A Field Guide to the Butterflies of Great Britain and Ireland (4th edition) and Britain's Spiders: A Field Guide (2nd edition), both due September. On the topic of plants there is one noteworthy title: Illustrated Field Guide to the Flowers of Sri Lanka, Volume 3.

Ecologists can look out for four new exciting books. WILDGuides will publish the second edition of the staggeringly successful Britain's Habitats: A Field Guide to the Wildlife Habitats of Great Britain and Ireland in August. CRC Press has just published the paperback of the 2001 book Biogeography of the West Indies: Patterns and Perspectives. Chartwell Books will publish Atlas of Oceans: An Ecological Survey of This Fascinating Hidden World in April. And, lastly, Springer has just published a new annotated edition of Charles Elton's classic 1958 text The Ecology of Invasions by Animals and Plants.

On the topic of conservation biology and environmental issues, there are three books worth mentioning in the pipeline. Johns Hopkins University Press will publish the paperback of Becoming a Wildlife Professional in August, while Island Press has announced Unnatural Companions: Rethinking Our Love of Pets in an Age of Wildlife Extinction for April. Earthscan has recently published Writing a New Environmental Era: Moving Forward to Nature, which makes a case for the importance of environmental humanities in addressing climate change and other environmental issues.

Finally, there is a smattering of titles covering different disciplines and genres. W.W. Norton will publish the paperback of Floating Coast: An Environmental History of the Bering Strait in September. Columbia University Press has announced The Story of Evolution in 25 Discoveries: The Evidence and the People Who Found It for September, which will be the fourth such book authored by Donald R. Prothero. A new, inexpensive version of Edward Abbey's Desert Solitaire: A Season in the Wilderness is due May from Harper Collins. Penguin Books will publish the paperback of Jared Diamond's Upheaval: How Nations Cope with Crisis and Change in May. Very topical is Adam Kurcharski's The Rules of Contagion: Why Things Spread - and Why They Stop, just published by Profile Books.

As always, if you are looking for a particular title that we do not yet have in our range, or you would like to suggest a title for NHBS to stock, please do get in touch. In the meantime, keep safe and keep well.
