

October 2019 Monthly Catalogue

Welcome to the October 2019 edition of the NHBS Monthly Catalogue, which lists all new titles added to our website in the last month.

Birdwatchers should have this month marked in their calendars as October sees the annual publication of The Birdwatcher's Yearbook. We furthermore will be stocking Birds of Saskatchewan and just received stock of two new Gosney Guides, Finding Birds in Eastern Bulgaria and Finding Birds in South-East Romania. Lastly, John Beaufoy has announced the second edition of A Naturalist's Guide to the Birds of Costa Rica for this month.

For mammalogists and herpetologists we have a select number of titles this month. Harper Collins will publish Elephants: Birth, Life, and Death in the World of the Giants in March, while Penguin Random House South Africa has just published Orca: The Day the Great White Sharks Disappeared on their Struik Nature imprint. On the herpetology front we now have stock of The Amphibians of Kenya, while this month will see the publication of the bilingual Venomous Snakes of Australia and Oceania by Chimaira in their Terralog series, and the second edition of A Naturalist's Guide to the Reptiles of Australia by John Beaufoy. A title of interest to all naturalists interested in vertebrates is the brand-new Weylin Field Guide: Tracks of Western European Animals, published by the Dutch organisation Weylin Tracking.

For entomologists we have three major field guides this month: The World Biodiversity Association has just published Grasshoppers & Crickets of Italy: A Photographic Field Guide to All the Species, while Bloomsbury will publish both Field Guide to the Caterpillars of Great Britain and Ireland and the second edition of Field Guide to Butterflies of South Africa in March.

Botanists will welcome the return of John Poland's highly popular The Vegetative Key to the British Flora. The first edition went out of print some time ago, but the second edition is expected in December. WILDGuides will publish Britain's Ferns, Clubmosses, Spikemosses, Quillworts and Horsetails: A Field Guide in March, while John Beaufoy will publish A Naturalist's Guide to the Trees of Sri Lanka this month. Two privately published titles we have added are The Remarkable Trees of St Albans Revisited and the 3-volume set Mosses of Europe: A Photographic Flora.

For ecologists and conservation biologists there is a range of books coming from the English university presses. Cambridge University Press has announced Shepherding Nature: The Challenge of Conservation Reliance and River Networks as Ecological Corridors: Species, Populations, Pathogens for March, while Oxford University Press has revealed Marine Disease Ecology for January. Profile Books will publish the paperback of Tony Juniper's Rainforest: Dispatches from Earth's Most Vital Frontlines, while Allen Lane has announced Losing Eden: Why Our Minds Need the Wild, both due in March.

To round out this month's selection we have a number of great popular science and nature writing books, all due in March. Oneworld Publications has announced Some Assembly Required: Decoding Four Billion Years of Life, from Ancient Fossils to DNA, written by Neil Shubin, and then there are four paperback reissues: Frans de Waal's Mama's Last Hug: Animal Emotions and What They Teach Us about Ourselves from Granta, Guy Shrubsole's Who Owns England? How We Lost Our Green & Pleasant Land & How to Take It Back from Harper Collins, Barry Lopez's Horizon from Vintage, and John Lewis-Stempel's Still Water: The Deep Life of the Pond from Black Swan. Finally, Harper Collins has announced the next New Naturalist: Pembrokeshire by Jonathan Mullard, also due in March.

As always, if you are looking for a particular title that we do not yet have in our range, or you would like to suggest a title for NHBS to stock, please do get in touch.
