Welcome to the July 2022 edition of the NHBS Monthly Catalogue, which lists all new titles added to our website in the last month.

We have a nice spread of books on flora and fauna this month. On mammals, Natural History Publication Borneo has just released The Hairy Rhinoceros: History, Ecology and Some Lessons for Management of the Last Asian Megafauna. Birds are represented by A Pocket Guide to Birds of Galápagos, due in November from Princeton University, and the second edition of Shrikes of the World, due in December from Helm. For herpetologists, we have stock of Captive Habitats: Building, Furnishing and Maintaining Naturalistic Vivariums and Enclosures, just published by Edition Chimaira. Entomologists will be interested in a new AIDGAP Guide from the Field Studies Council that is due this month: Adult Caddis \(Trichoptera\) of Britain and Ireland: A Practical Guide. And for botanists, we have the second edition of Ancient Oaks in the English Landscape, due in October from the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew.

On the subject of wildlife conservation, we have a notable new book by Morten Jørgensen, Polar Bears: Beloved & Betrayed, that takes a hard-nosed look at the universal failing of polar bear conservation efforts. On the topic of other environmental issues, Columbia University Press has announced Greenhouse Planet: How Rising CO2 Changes Plants and Life as We Know It for November. Furthermore, we have two paperback rereleases: Hot Air: The Inside Story of the Battle Against Climate Change Denial, due in August from Atlantic Books, and Thicker Than Water: The Quest for Solutions to the Plastic Crisis, due in October from Island Press.

Readers interested in environmental history can look for two paperback reissues. First is Jungle: How Tropical Forests Shaped World History, which is due this month from Penguin Books. Second is The Nutmeg's Curse: Parables for a Planet in Crisis, which is coming in October from Hodder & Stoughton. Then there are two excellent palaeontology books in the pipeline. Princeton University Press will publish The Princeton Field Guide to Mesozoic Sea Reptiles in October, which is the third such guide by Gregory S. Paul after dinosaurs and pterosaurs, and Columbia University Press has announced the paperback of Locked in Time: Animal Behavior Unearthed in 50 Extraordinary Fossils for September.

A final trio of books covers diverse subjects. We have stock of The National Park Guide: Europe: South and Southwestern Europe, the Alps and Macaronesia, which is a new wildlife guide from Original Wild Nature in Denmark and will be the first of several such guides. The Bodley Head has announced David Quammen's next book, Breathless: The Scientific Race to Defeat a Deadly Virus, for October, which will see him tackle the COVID-19 pandemic. Lastly, Bloomsbury Sigma will release the paperback version of The Brilliant Abyss: True Tales of Exploring the Deep Sea, Discovering Hidden Life and Selling the Seabed in August.

As always, if you are looking for a particular title that we do not yet have in our range, or you would like to suggest a title for NHBS to stock, please do get in touch. In the meantime, stay safe and keep well.
