

August 2023 Monthly Catalogue

Welcome to the August 2023 edition of the NHBS Monthly Catalogue, which lists all new titles added to our website in the last month.

We lead this month with the announcement of the fourth edition of Bat Surveys for Professional Ecologists: Good Practice Guidelines which is due soon and will be distributed by NHBS. Other interesting mammal titles are Field Guide to the Mammals of Oman, due this December from Nomad Publishing, and Bat Island: A Rare Journey into the Hidden World of Tropical Bats due in November from Earth Aware Editions. We also have two books on deer this month: Coch y Bonddu Books has just published the fourth edition of Field Guide to Deer of Britain and Springer will publish Deer of the World: Ecology, Conservation and Management in January.

We have a large number of bird books as John Beaufoy has just announced new titles, all of which are due in October: A Field Guide to the Birds of Singapore, the fourth edition of A Naturalist's Guide to the Birds of Borneo: Sabah, Sarawak, Brunei and Kalimantan, the second edition of A Naturalist's Guide to the Birds of New Zealand, the third edition of The 100 Best Birdwatching Sites in Australia, and the second edition of The 50 Best Birdwatching Sites In New Zealand. Bloomsbury will release a new Helm Wildlife Guide, Birds of Spain, in January, while we are expecting stock of the Lancashire Bird Report 2022 this month.

For other fauna groups, we have a small selection of titles. For ichthyologists we have Fishes of the Orinoco in the Wild, published by Mikolji Corp, and the paperback of Salmon Wars: The Dark Underbelly of Our Favorite Fish, published by St. Martin's Press. For herpetologists, there is Islands and Snakes, Volume 2: Diversity and Conservation, due in January from Oxford University Press. Lastly, for entomologists, we now have stock of Noctuidae Europaeae Essential from BugBook Publishing.

For botanists there are two noteworthy books this month: Pressed Plants: Making a Herbarium, just published by the Royal British Columbia Museum, and The World of Crocuses: The First Supplement, just published by The Latvian Academy of Sciences.

On the subject of environmental issues, we have a range of books. Cambridge University Press has announced Climate Change 2022 - Mitigation of Climate Change, the third of its three Working Group Reports to accompany the IPCC's 6th Assessment Report. We furthermore draw your attention to The Heat Will Kill You First: Life and Death on a Scorched Planet, just published by Little, Brown & Company, and The Dark Cloud: How the Digital World is Costing the Earth, due in September from Scribe Publications. Of interest to conservation biologists, we have just received stock of The Protected Areas of Ranomafana and Andringitra in Central Southeastern Madagascar, which is part of a new and ongoing series of pocket ecotourism guides from Association Vahatra.

Palaeontologists and evolutionary biologists will want to look out for the recently published The Desert Bones: The Paleontology and Paleocology of Mid-Cretaceous North Africa, another volume in Indiana University Press's flagship palaeontology series Life of the Past. Meanwhile, MIT Press has announced Our Ancient Lakes: A Natural History for October, and Pelagic Publishing has announced Birds & Flowers: An Intimate 50 Million Year Relationship for January.

A final selection of miscellaneous titles includes the second edition of Brad's 52 Wildlife Weekends: A Year of British Wildlife-Watching Breaks, a paperback reissue of Princeton University Press's Why Size Matters: From Bacteria to Blue Whales, due in January, and Simon & Schuster's Foreign Bodies: Pandemics, Vaccines and the Health of Nations, written by Simon Schama.

As always, if you are looking for a particular title that we do not yet have in our range, or you would like to suggest a title for NHBS to stock, please do get in touch.
